

WRITERS READ AT CONCORDIA

in collaboration with

THE SCHOOL OF CANADIAN IRISH STUDIES

welcomes award-winning Irish writer

DEIRDRE MADDEN

2014/15
WRITERS READ

Friday, October 10, 2014
at 7 p.m.

Room H-767 Hall Building

1455 De Maisonneuve Blvd. W.

Deirdre Madden is from Country Antrim. She studied at Trinity College Dublin and the University of East Anglia. She has published eight novels, including The Birds of The Innocent Wood, One by One in the Darkness, Authenticity and Molly Fox's Birthday. Her awards include the Hennessy Award, the Somerset Maugham Prize, the Rooney Prize and the Kerry Book of the Year Award. She has been shortlisted twice for the Orange Prize. Her most recent novel, Time Present and Time Past was published in 2013. She teaches Creative Writing at Trinity College Dublin.

For more information about this and other reading series at Concordia see our website, writersreadconcordia.ca.

Be sure to bookmark and come back often as we roll out archival footage from previous readings and updates on upcoming events.

Follow us on Twitter (@CUWritersRead) and like us on Facebook (writersreadconcordia) for updates.

For more information about this particular reading contact the School of Canadian Irish Studies at cdnirish.fas@concordia.ca or 514-848-2424 ext. 8711. Also visit cdnirish.concordia.ca and follow us on Twitter (@canadian_irish) and Facebook (canadianirishstudies).